2. Regarding Changes to the Method of Publication of the Degree Dissertation Abstract, Review Results, and Full Text of the Dissertation

(1) Publication by Means of the Internet

A ministerial ordinance revising a portion of the Regulations on Academic Degrees (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology Ordinance No. 5 of 2013) was promulgated on March 11, 2013, and put into effect on April 1, 2013. In conjunction with this revision, persons who are conferred doctoral degrees from a graduate school of the Yokohama National University from April 1, 2013, are to publish their degree dissertation and review results abstract together with the full text of the doctoral dissertation by means of the internet (the Yokohama National University Repository).

(2) Electronic File Formats

In order to assure long-term storage and accessibility, please take care regarding the following matters:

- Embed fonts in the file and do not include any calls to outside data (external fonts, etc.) in the file.
- Do not encrypt the file, apply a password, set any restrictions on printing, or configure any other such restrictions.

(3) Alternatives to Publication of Dissertation Online

When there is unavoidable reason that you should prefer not to publish the full text of the doctoral dissertation, please submit the appended Letter of Confirmation with brief, supporting data (e.g. email receiving prepublication paper and a hard copy of contribution rules, etc.) to the Graduate School Affairs Office by Friday, September 3, 2021. If the reason is approved by the school faculty council or other such body as corresponding to one of those listed below, a summary of the content of the doctoral dissertation (a dissertation abstract) may be published on the internet in place of the doctoral dissertation.

<Reasons Against Publishing the Full Text of the Doctoral Dissertation>

- The doctoral dissertation contains three-dimensional representations or other such forms that it is not possible to publish on the internet.
- The doctoral dissertation includes content that, because of copyright protection, protection of private information, or other such reason, cannot be published by means of the internet for more than one year from the date the doctoral degree is conferred.
- Due to publication in a scholarly journal that forbids simultaneous or multiple publishing, or due to application for a patent, or in connection with other such activity, publication of the full text of the doctoral dissertation by means of the internet would cause a clear disadvantage to the person granted the doctoral degree for more than one year from the date the degree is conferred.
- And other circumstances that the faculty council accepts as truly unavoidable.

Note 1. Even in cases when permission not to publish the full text of the doctoral dissertation is given, the electronic file of the full text of the doctoral dissertation and the dissertation abstract should be submitted to the Graduate School Affairs Office by the specified due date.

Note 2. Even in cases when permission not to publish the full text of the doctoral dissertation is given, if the unavoidable reason becomes no longer applicable, this circumstance should be reported to the Graduate School Affairs Office concerned. After the report is received, publication of the full text of the doctoral dissertation will commence.

Note 3. In cases when permission not to publish the full text of the doctoral dissertation is given, if the unavoidable reason continues to be applicable even after the time limit for non-publication has passed, please submit another Letter of Confirmation.
